Jim Roberts, Managing Director of G20 Security comments:

“With over 25 years of experience within the security industry we can provide tailor-made solutions to meet your needs. At G20 we believe that in the highly competitive licensed trade first impressions count – and the first impression your customers get are the security staff on the door.”

“With that in mind our highly trained professional staff are firmly focused on customer care. We treat your respected clientele like VIP’s to ensure they will want to return.”

“Our philosophy is quite simple: We believe in working in partnership with our clients in order to maximise your profits and reputation. We also believe that your door security provider should be a sustaining resource to your business and not a necessary cost.”
